Slomowitz joins BBS executive leadership team as business expansion executive

Bilfinger Berger Services (BBS) has appointed globally experienced business development and acquisition specialist, Alan Slomowitz, as Executive General Manager, Business Expansion.

Slomowitz is based at the company's Macquarie Park (New South Wales) head office and will be responsible for developing, evaluating and proposing growth initiatives, including mergers and acquisitions.

Prior to joining BBS, Slomowitz held senior business development roles with the international infrastructure development consultancy, Evans and Peck, where he had a major focus on Public Private Partnerships. He has also worked for the Tenix group and Jarden Morgan Europe.

Slomowitz has also been appointed to the company's Executive Leadership Team, which includes Managing Director, Mark Elliott; Executive Director, Finance and Corporate Services, Louise Hicks; Executive Director, Engineering and Construction, Robert Fletcher and Executive Director Infrastructure Services, David Tucker.

"Alan is highly experienced in corporate financing, the execution of mergers and acquisitions, contract negotiation and post acquisition strategy. This includes a number of very large on and off market transactions in Australia and the United States," said BBS Managing Director, Mark Elliott.

"The current economic uncertainty presents both challenges and opportunities. BBS expects the financial environment will lead to acquisition opportunities and openings in markets in which the company does not presently operate."
