Bilfinger Berger Services secures contracts with CitiPower, Powercor and EnergyAustralia

Specialist engineering, construction and asset management contractor, Bilfinger Berger Services, has secured multiple contracts with Victorian and New South Wales electricity distributors.

The contracts include:

- Installation and connection of electricity services and meters for customers, scheduling and dispatching, management of consignment meter stock, supply of all materials and, provision of electronic management systems and administrative support for CitiPower in Melbourne, Victoria. This contract renewal is for two years with the option for two 12-month extensions.
- Provision of sub-contracted licensed electrical inspectors (LEIs) for Powercor in regional and rural Victoria. Bilfinger Berger Services will provide all business as usual functions as well as 24/7 emergency response. This contract renewal is for three years with the option for two 12-month extensions.
- Maintenance of street lights and replacement of faulty lamps for EnergyAustralia in Newcastle, New South Wales. This new contract is for 2.5 years with the option for two 2.5 year extensions. Bilfinger Berger Services has ordered two new 12-metre elevated work platforms (EWPs) to service the contract and will also recruit additional staff from the region.
- Installation of fire stopping materials in a portion of EnergyAustralia's zone substations across its network. Bilfinger Berger Services worked with EnergyAustralia to identify the best-performing material to reduce damage to a substation during a fire and aid the quick restoration of services. This new contract is for two years with the option for a one-year extension.

Mark Elliott, Managing Director Bilfinger Berger Services says, "These latest wins mark the continuation of an 11 year relationship with Powercor and a further expansion of the support we provide to EnergyAustralia in New South Wales and CitiPower in Victoria.

"During the past 60 years, Bilfinger Berger Services has grown to become a major end-to-end provider to the Australian power industry, with operations in every state.

“Major power companies continue to choose Bilfinger Berger Services to provide critical services to their networks.”
